SULZER OR HANLYWithdrawal of Former Governor Foss
of Massachusetts From Race.
Leaves But Two Can-

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

St. Paul, July 18.—The national prohibition convention which will open in session at the auditorium tomorrow, will learn that the triangular contest for the presidential nomination has been reduced over night to a race between former Governor John Frank Hanly of Indiana, and former Governor William Sulzer of New York by reason of the announcement of Governor Eugene Foss of Massachusetts.Parker Flirts With Dries.
A coalition between the prohibition-ists now gathering here in national convention, and Colonel John M. Parker's orphaned progressives is considered a strong probability.In a letter today to William G. Hinshaw, chairman of the prohibition national committee, Colonel Parker made what is construed by leaders here to be a bid for their support. And he found them, at least the large "progressive" element, receptive."I sincerely hope," wrote Colonel Parker, "that your gathering will be marked by the greatest wisdom and if the convention in Chicago (called for August 5) is what I hope and believe it can be made, with the passage of a strong platform on which the national prohibition convention of the nation, that it appeals to the nationalist confidence that we can poll a tremendous vote."In view of these developments, the younger element of the prohibitionists were advising their colleagues Monday night to "watch your steps" in the prohibition convention, because it is believed that Colonel Parker, at his convention will concur in and name the same candidate, providing he is of the younger school of prohibition-ists.There is no dearth of candidates, according to leaders here. The suggestions included Colonel Parker, Henry Ford, former Governor Foss of Massachusetts, Governor Sulzer of New York, and former Governor Hanly of Indiana.The platform of such a consolidated party would be, briefly, prohibition, property, with a small dash of preparedness.Foss Withdraws.
Gov. Eugene Foss of Massachusetts said that he would not be a candidate tendered him. John M. Parker's rallying cry to the surviving progressives in his call issued last Saturday for a new national convention of the party in Chicago August 5th was blunted by prohibition leaders today for "get-together" conference at which they had hoped to mobilize a number of their organization scores of men who had been prominent in the progressive, republican and democratic parties. Instead of a "get-together" event the meeting became a prohibition love

lan of Minocqua, manager Hotel Northern, claims to have received a letter from President Wilson's physician requesting four rooms for a party including the president.
Although there have been rumors that the president might visit Wisconsin on his vacation, this is the first definite announcement of the contemplated outing. The fulfillment of this plan would make Minocqua the summer
White House.According to Mr. Nolan the presi-and will spend at least two weeks in the heart of the Wisconsin forests seeking rest and recreation before starting his campaign for reelection.It is not known whether the president's wife plans to accompany him.

It is said Minocqua was recommended to the president by a local life at Washington. Last summer Attorney General Gregory and a number of southern congressmen visited upper Wisconsin, and it is believed their favorable report was one of the reasons

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

London, July 18.—The British government's Liquor Control Board has seized the four big breweries at Carlisle and all the saloons in the district and will run them. This is believed to be the first action of the government's plan for the control of liquor to take over the liquor trade as it has taken over and is running the telephone, and railroad systems. The government's ultimate object is believed to be the death of the liquor traffic in England.The government's agents in Carlisle district gave the liquor men only ten days to get out of the business. The owners will be paid for their property either in cash or in government war bonds. Some of the saloons are to be closed, as the government's idea is to have only a few big saloons at central points, rather than the small drinking houses scattered about in residence neighborhoods. The saloon and brewery men have no choice in the matter.AUSTRALIA WILL FLOAT

Dies at Hospital After Capture.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

Chicago, July 18.—Five persons, including a policeman, were shot and killed and three others wounded early today when Robert McIntyre, a negro, barricaded behind the door of his home on the west side on Con-street, picked off his besiegers with an automatic pistol and repeating rifle.
More than one hundred police, barricaded behind the door of his home on the west side on Con-street, picked off his besiegers with an
automatic pistol and repeating rifle.
The dead are: Stewart Dane, a policeman shot through the abdomen, died instantly; Mrs. Joseph Overmyer, a neighbor, shot in the head, died instantly; Edw. Knox, colored, who lived next door, an unidentified man and another whose name was not identified, found on the porch. They are believed to be neighbors.Gasoline was started burning in the front of the house shortly before eight o'clock in an attempt to drive the negro out, and the house was dynamited at 8:05 a. m. The explosion blew the rear porch and part of the kitchen into the alley. The negro was apparently unharmed. Fifty rifles were dynamite was set off but without the desired results. At 8:41 a third charge also failed of purpose.An auto patrol brought rifles and a bullet was poured through the window. The negro fired a shot and replied and it was thought he had been shot. Then he appeared at one window and then fired from another.
Thousands of shots were exchanged.
The rapidity with which he fired led to the theory that he had two rifles and that he was loading them for himself. He was shot in the head at 8:46 and found the negro badly wounded and his wife dead.He was taken to a hospital where he died soon after from a bullet wound in the head.McIntyre was a released fanatic. He left a scrawl in which he said that he was the "spirit of the Almighty God" and that he was going to carry his "reports to the Almighty."The other dead were identified as:
Alfred Matthews, 36, a negro neighbor, found dead of bullet wound on porch of home.R. J. McIntyre (colored) the crazed man, 30 years, shot by bullet; died in hospital.Mrs. Hattie McIntyre (colored) wife of above crazed man, 30 years, head blown off.The injured are:
Edward Clement Sargent, 46 years, three bullet wounds.Grover Crabtree, policeman, 27 years, wound in elbow and wrist; not serious.Mrs. Mayme Knox, 45, wife of Edw.
Knox, bullet in back.When the police were able to enter the building, it was a wreck. They found an explanation of McIntyre's deed in a note which he left scrawled in lead pencil on a soiled piece of brown wrapping paper: "The Almighty God has made me a prophet and he has made me also my wife, Hattie McIntyre. You shall know that the Lord has sent me to gather unto the Lord the remnants of the African race."(At this place in the scrawl the negro wrote three capital CCCs and the initials "E. H.")The Lord has made me the savior of all Africans of America and I now shall recommend all that are worthy unto my Heavenly Father, the Great God of all Creation. The Lord has given me a spirit to judge the quick and the dead."I must die in this land that I may carry my reports unto Almighty God concerning the land of the United States."WILL EQUIP TRAIN

TRADE AFTER THE WAR.

"A threat is always a bluff, and any wise man will call it without hesitation. If his cause is just. A nation is in exactly the same position, and the Teutonic powers, whatever the result of the war may be, will be in a position to call such an obvious bluff as the threat of the allies to discriminate against them in international trade. As a measure of war politics the threat might have had some uses.

As a standard for international business, it is beneath discussion," says an eastern economist. "It adopts in theory the weakest part of the German international policy. It abandons the sound and thoroughly workable rule that international trade is not war, but exchange. There was never a more practical school of political economy than that of the Cobdenites. Their theory built up for Great Britain her maritime supremacy, and did so by establishing a free market, where all nations might import their goods, and where every obstacle to export was removed.

"This principle, moreover, was maintained with success against a protectionist world. The special privileges granted to Great Britain herself by some of her colonies, in practice, amounted to little more than a tax upon the consumers in those colonies themselves. The colonies were protectionist, for the most part, where they made their own tariff. The British manufacturers exported what they could not produce, and Great Britain imported what other people could produce to better advantage. Radical as the system was, it made Great Britain the financial center of the world.

"Our democratic administration has committed itself to an 'anti-dumping law,' thereby conceding what the republican party has always claimed, that protection was necessary to build up our industries. It is entirely possible that the various nations now at war will undertake some legislation of the sort. If that legislation is general in its application, it may be harmless enough, although it will probably not do what its advocates hope. If it is specific in being directed against the trade of a single country, as, for instance, Germany, it may do a great deal of harm and will necessarily react upon the country which adopts a policy so unsound.

"After the war the nations must live together in a civilized way, for their own preservation. Germany may be said, in peace times, to 'dump' an immense volume of manufactures in Great Britain and France. The trade is reciprocal. To deprive the British manufacturer of his German market would be a staggering blow to British trade. Doubtless trade treaties favorable to Germany have been abrogated by the war itself, and will not be renewed on the old terms. But a trade combination against Germany would harm all parties to the compact and, in the end, benefit nobody."

NOMINATION BLANKS.

One of the absolutely absurd requirements of the present primary law is the securing of signatures to nomination blanks. There is a perfect deluge of them at present, for county, state and national officers, and the average voter signs all, never knowing whether he has signed for men on two or three tickets running for the same office.

Recently a gentleman who is most pronounced in his political views signed a blank for a friend, for a man whom he has denounced personally and bitterly and now had been asked for his re-election and promised to support him at the primaries until told of his mistake later.

Democrats seek nomination on republican tickets by aid of the primary and republicans secure democratic signatures to their nomination blanks regardless of how the signers will vote when the primaries really come. It is all one big jumble and absolutely absurd.

Aside from being foolish it is also inconvenient and an annoyance to friends of the candidate to have to be asked to secure signatures, taking their individual time and also valuable time of those passing the papers as well as giving the possible candidate an opportunity to insult them for asking them to sign this or that paper.

of some value to the taxpayers and not the "tax-eaters."

THE CHAUTAUQUA.

Thursday marks the opening of the Janesville Chautauqua. Time was when the privilege of attending one of these series of entertainments was confined almost entirely to those who were fortunate enough to be able to travel many miles, enjoy a week's discomfort in a crowded camp, and then return home to await for next year's program.

Now the chautauqua comes to your own doors. The program arranged for is most instructive and entertaining. It is replete with interesting numbers and the work planned for the amusement of the younger people, the convenience of the visitors and the general comfort of all who attend is worth serious consideration. It is not a money-making scheme. The men who engineer the affair do so from a spirit of civic pride and in fact are financial losers. In fact they have to make a fixed guaranty with the chautauqua concern that conducts the affair to insure them against loss and the only way they can play even and not have to go down into their own pockets is by the sale of season tickets.

The chautauqua is an institution particularly peculiar to the United States. It is the outgrowth of a great movement started thirty years ago in the east and whose influence has been widespread. It was the forerunner of the extension lectures of the various universities and has now been brought down to meet the demand of the every day people who can not get away for an extended visit and still would enjoy entertainments that are both instructive and amusing.

CAMPING OUT.

Along with the growth of modern luxury, there are still a lot of people who enjoy camping out in summer. It is the cheapest way to enjoy a good vacation. A good tent costs little, lasts many years, and your bed may be a lot more comfortable than what you pay $2.00 a day for in a summer hotel. If you locate near good fishing grounds, the biggest single item of food cost is largely cut out.

One modern form of camping out perhaps provides about the acme of pleasure for people of simple tastes. This is where arrangements are made for a group of congenial people to occupy camps with joint arrangements for table service. The building of floors for tents, good screening and comfortable furniture make the life less primitive. With meals served in a big tent, without formality, and with just good home cooking, the life is inexpensive.

Many people of cultivated tastes but limited means find this life ideal. They make intimate friendships that would never be acquired in the stuff life of hotels.

Too bad now that the city owns the water works there is not more of its product used on the lawns under city control, and for washing out gutters and dirty streets. We need it sadly. Meanwhile the average citizen finds his bills bigger than ever.

In view of the suffering at Bingville by the lack of a marble postoffice, the income tax payers must see the necessity of making full returns of their property to the government.

It is hard to realize what a moral paroxysm was created only a few years ago when women immodestly appeared in public with skirts two inches from the ground.

No sharks in Rock river, but lots of dark, deep holes to trap the unwary, so beware of swimmers and watch your step" while bathing on sand bars and in shallow water.

A lot of girls would be delighted to take domestic science courses provided they didn't have to take any cooking, sewing, or washing dishes.

The American idea of preparedness is locating explosive munition factories in seaport towns where one shell would destroy them.

There is a growing feeling that we must retrench on our extravagances in order to intrench against the war-like powers of Europe.

"Old Sol" did not shine for many a day this spring, but he evidently has made up for lost time by his recent actions.

THE OVERGROWN STIFF.

Campaign to him is not so glad. Of issues he thinks nix. For in the parlor butts her dad to talk some politics.

"Did I understand you to step on my foot?" bawled I. Berly Sixfoot. "I sawed off segment of cheese," Shrimp replied. "Back to the woods, overgrown stiff!" "Sixfoot's eyes bulged so that three inches more and they would have left his head. "I do understand that you deliberately state that and allude to me, to me—as an overgrown stiff," he gasped. "Yes, to you," smiled Shrimp shyly. "Say, fellow, let me get this right. You actually admit, do you, that you called me an overgrown stiff?" "Cheerfully, cheerfully," confessed Shrimp. And what's more you ought to be slapped that even noticed you overgrown stiff. "You got anything more to say about it?" "No, I am an overgrown stiff," said Sixfoot hastily. "I just wanted to see you had it right." And he walked hurriedly off.

THREE SISTERS ARE GRADUATED SAME DAY

Are Awarded Degrees From Alabama University, Establishing Unusual Educational Record.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Birmingham, Ala., July 18.—Three sisters of aristocratic lineage, all under twenty-three years of age, established a record in this coming year educational achievement in one family by graduating with honors this session, and taking their degrees on the same day from the University of Alabama, the highest educational institution in the state for men with a coeducational privilege recently adopted.

Rose, Ruby Elizabeth and Jennie Clyde McKee, who received the degrees of B.A., B.S. and B.L.S. in the order named, and attained unusually high university standing. By way of exemplifying the law of heredity, the young women are the granddaughters of Dr. James R. Hood of Wedowee, Ala., scholar, preacher, physician, inventor, planter, and student of literature and science. The girls are great-grandchildren of the North Carolina confederate general and great-granddaughters of Wiley Hood, who was an officer in the second revolution.

When Dr. Hood married at the age of eighteen, neither he nor his wife could read or write. He sent to school his crippled brother, who became a teacher, and Dr. Hood attended his school as a pupil, and after two years, he also found time to study medicine, and in fifteen months won the position of surgeon in the confederate army.

He afterwards invented several valuable farming implements and now cultivates 4,000 acres in Alabama, though he is eighty-four years old.

He has three great-grandchildren, eight great-grandchildren and ten great-great-grandchildren living. He is still active in the practice of medicine and as a minister of the gospel.

NIGERIA HAS SAVIOR BLACK, CONVERTS MANY TO HIS NEW RELIGION

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

London, July 18.—Nigeria has trouble on its hands in the person of a negro who styles himself Elijah the second. Ostensibly a convert from Christianity, he has cut adrift from the mission societies, running a spurious form of Christianity on his own account. According to an official who has reached England from the region where his converts are most numerous, they already number more than a million out of the 17,000,000 natives in Nigeria.

He claims to work miracles and not even draw the line at raising people from the dead. He finds a particularly profitable source of revenue in selling water which he pretends to have endowed with magic healing powers. But what is causing the authorities most concern is the new doctrine which the black Elijah is proclaiming. It is that the blacks are now the "chosen people," that they are destined to oust the whites and inherit the choice places of the earth.

TIP AMERICAN COCAINE SELLERS FROM FRANCE—KEEP YOUR "SNOW" IN THE BANK

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Paris, July 18.—They have as much trouble with the cocaine traffic in Paris as they do in New York, Chicago, Cleveland, San Francisco, and other American cities. The tricks resorted to by law breaking vendors of the "snow" are quite as ingenious as a shrewd American could pull. Today the police discovered a new one. Jean Nardin, a pharmacist, bit upon the happy idea of keeping his stock of "cokes" in safety deposit boxes at the Credit Lyonnais. The police yanked him up quick and he just been put in prison and fined $500.

Although the police had been certain for months that Nardin had been selling "snow" to victims of the habit, repeated searching of his store revealed only minor quantities of the drug. Nardin's repeated visits to the vault in the bank led to his arrest. In the safety deposit box was found several hundred dollars worth of cocaine and Nardin's personal memoirs, which is in writing as he goes through life.

BRIDGEPORT GOING TO BUILD MILLION DOLLARS' WORTH OF HOMES FOR WORKMEN

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Bridgeport, Conn., July 18.—The war boom has run this town's population up to a point to be astounding. There are 2,000 families here without roofs. So the chamber of commerce engineered a private corporation, organized with an idea of profit, to build a million dollars' worth of model homes for them. The first work on the homes started here today. It is estimated that nearly 50,000 persons have moved here to stay in the last twelve months. Most of them were brought to help make munitions, but a part of the increase was caused by the establishment of 400 big factories of all kinds in the last few years. The poorer workmen felt the pinch of the situation first. Landlords boosted rents when they saw what was happening. The first work of the new corporation is the building of two-family houses to rent at $12 to $15 a month.

BAD BOY EPIDEMIC SWEEPING ENGLAND

War Held to Be Cause of So Many Young Pecks.—War Widow Homes Furnish Many.

London, June 23 (by mail).—England is being swept by an epidemic of bad boys.

Ever since war began thousands of homes have been left in charge of mothers who had depended on their men to discipline the youngsters. Unrestrained, now that their fathers are at the front, the fatherless generation is running the gamut of mischief and petty crime.

American mothers left in the same predicament at the beginning of the Spanish-American war will understand how sorely tried the English women in attempting to keep their sons in the paths of rightness. The situation is aggravated because the war has given rise to impetuous actions and words on the part of the youngsters, who daily hear and read of carnage and passion in the war zones.

In appealing for funds for a home for boys today the Bishop of Manchester declared that "anyone" who has seen a mother trying to manage a boy between the ages of fourteen and sixteen knows she has her hands full. For control is an appeal to the boy's affection, and had wide experience for her to enforce the needed appeal to the boy's sense of duty.

Hundreds of boys have been arrested for petty offenses who are too young to join the colors and too old to put up with feminine discipline.

Juvenile homes are rapidly filling up with boys who have been declared incorrigible after numerous appearances in court. The London papers carry advertisements offering counsel and help to mothers whose sons have become unruly. The private services of men who have had wide experience in handling boys are offered. Records show that the majority of these bad boys come from war widows' homes.

STROKE PROVES FATAL TO JOHN CUNNINGHAM

PROMINENT ROCK COUNTY ATTORNEY SUCCEEDS AT HIS HOME SHORTLY BEFORE NOON TODAY.

ILL ONLY THREE DAYS

Attack of Paralysis Induced by Severe Hot Weather Brings About His Demise—Was Prominent in Elks' Lodge.

John Cunningham, president of the Rock County Bar Association and a prominent lawyer in this county for many years, died at his home, 758 South Bluff street, at 11:20 o'clock this morning. Mr. Cunningham was suddenly stricken with a stroke of apoplexy late Saturday evening. What at first looked like a slight ailment rapidly progressed and on Sunday he became unconscious, which condition continued until he died. Up to his sudden illness Mr. Cunningham had enjoyed the best of health.

John Cunningham was born in this city on June 17, 1862. He was the oldest of a family of six children. When he was about seven years of age his parents moved to a farm north of the city, where he helped with the farm work and grew to manhood. He worked his way through Milton College.

JOHN CUNNINGHAM.

From which he graduated in June, 1885. He then studied law in the office of Winans & Hyer of this city, and was admitted to the bar on the second day of May, 1888. For a number of years after his admission he was in partnership with Thomas Nolan under the firm name of Nolan & Cunningham. For many years and until his son, Roger G. joined him, he practiced law in Janesville. He was elected president of the Rock County Bar Association and he continued to hold that office until his death. He was a member of the Modern Woodmen and the Elks, of which latter organization he was the Exalted Ruler when he died.

On the 28th of November, 1888, he was married to Mrs. Roger G. Cunningham, who survives him. One son, Joseph, died in infancy.

John Cunningham has lost one of his best friends and a citizen who was always respected with the best growth and development of the city. He held the respect and confidence of the entire community and among his associates at law he was esteemed not only for his learning but for his lovable personal qualities. His life was devoted to his profession and the simple pleasures of the home and garden, which he had made one of the most beautiful in Janesville.

The entire community joins in extending to the grief-stricken wife and family its sympathy in bereavement. An announcement concerning the funeral will be made later.

LOCAL CHAUTAUQUA

TO OPEN THURSDAY

Every indication points to a large attendance and an exceptionally fine program.

Janesville's annual chautauqua, given under the auspices of the Lincoln Chautauqua association, will open on Thursday at 8 o'clock at the chautauqua grounds on Milton avenue for a three days' session. According to the local board of directors, which has been busy during the last few days completing the necessary arrangements, every indication points to a most successful session. Season ticket sales have been progressing with satisfactory rapidity and a large attendance is expected.

The management of the chautauqua has promised one of the finest programs it has ever presented. The afternoon program on Thursday, after the usual formalities of the introduction of the platform superintendent and the customary announcements, a musical given by the Lyric Glee club, a musical comedy, followed by an address by May Shumway, Esq., on "Wedding Ceremonies of European Countries," which will be illustrated by elaborate costuming. The Lyric Glee club will also appear in the evening program and the lecture will be given by Annie Webb Curtis on "Whose Neighbor Am I?"

One of the features of this year's program will be the young people's chautauqua for the children, which will be conducted at ten o'clock each morning. Competent play supervisors and stories will be in charge of this part of the program which will be of special interest to children, mothers and teachers.

The afternoon programs will begin promptly at two o'clock and the lectures will follow at 3:15. Evening programs begin at 7:30 and the lectures are scheduled to begin at 8:00. Chautauqua audiences are urged to come early to avoid confusion in the tent after the program has started.

It is expected that the tents will be erected either tomorrow afternoon or Thursday morning. Tomorrow evening a free play festival or chautauqua hour open to the children and others who care to come and enjoy the contest will be held under the direction of Mr. Curtis. The program will be one of the play directors of the Lincoln company. There will be relay races, fifty yard dash, tug-of-war, and last but not least, a baseball game. Four season tickets will be hidden on the grounds. At a given signal the children will be turned loose to find them. Finders are keepers.

KITS PIER FOUNDATION

Man is Dead When Launch-owner Pulls Him into Boat Few Seconds Following His Jump.

Continuation of excessive heat conditions was the primary cause of another death in this city this morning. George Scott Sutton, 21 North Pearl street, suffering a temporary state of dementia due to the sweltering atmosphere, was instantly killed when he leaped from the broad stone shelf beneath a pier of the upper railroad bridge after leaping off the structure. Sutton was over the launch of B. J. Manning a moment before he rolled off the ledge into the water. Death had been instantaneous.

Before his leap from the bridge Sutton was at the top of the High street crossing near the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway station. His face was distorted and he appeared in pain as he madly ran, his hands tearing at his breast. W. H. Ashcraft, who was on the bridge, watched until he reached the south end of the long bridge. Thinking something radically wrong had started, he ran toward the bridge and was between fifty and a hundred feet away when Sutton jumped.

Mr. Manning and his wife and children were just returning from the island beach in their launch which was anchored between the railway and the Fourth avenue bridge. Several little girls, friends of the Manning children, who had been taking swimming lessons at the beach, were also in the boat. When Sutton was adjusting the engine when one of the girls cried, "Oh, look at the man jumping off the bridge!" Mr. Manning looked and saw Sutton on the pier foundation. He started his engine and moved to the pier. The body was drawn into the boat. A half cup of water was discharged by the man. Mr. Manning was cut and bruised about the face and head and also on the legs. He had turned overboard and reached him. Mr. Manning was cut and bruised about the face and head and also on the legs. ## JEFFRIS' PAPERS ARE FILED AT MADISON BY CAMPAIGN MANAGERS

Twenty-five Hundred Voters' Names Turned in to Secretary of State Asking Janesville Man to Run.

Although the total number of signatures to the nomination papers of M. G. Jeffris, republican candidate for the United States senate, was in excess of twenty-five hundred, it was deemed advisable to file on this total which is double the number required by law. The signatures were handed in to the secretary of state as required by law, and are now on file at his office in Madison.

Word from the Madison Jeffris headquarters is to the effect that the organization of Jeffris clubs throughout the state are continuing rapidly and much interest is being taken in his candidacy. In fact some of the men who circulated the Jeffris nomination papers stated their lists contained the names of former state legislature men, who had signed the papers of their own free will.

In Milwaukee it is estimated that the Jeffris club will have a membership of at least ten thousand, and throughout the state county organizations are being formulated, with the hope of having the headquarters for the clubs which radiate out into the voting precinct in the district. As far as possible Mr. Jeffris will speak at least once in every county in the state between now and primary day, and his itinerary is being made up carefully so that he will be given but little rest after next week until September.

A FOURTH REGIMENT IS BEING ORGANIZED

Adjutant General Holway Has Received Orders From Washington to Proceed to Such Organization.

With the regular state guard units in Wisconsin all mustered into the United States service, and the additional Troop B of Milwaukee and Barrington, Wis., are being organized. The regular state guard units are being organized. The regular state guard units are being organized.

This announcement was made by Adjutant General Orlando Holway Monday morning. The general asked authority from the federal government to recruit a new battalion of four companies when the Wisconsin infantry brigade was sent to the Mexican border. The war department gave him permission to recruit a full regiment of twelve companies. At the same time the general was authorized to appoint the necessary recruiting officers in the principal cities of the state. Two have been named to act in Milwaukee, and Lieutenant Casimir Gonski has accepted. He was mustered into the federal service at Camp Douglas on Monday. Others who have accepted are: Major Emanuel Rossiter, Superior; Captain M. P. Swart, Menomonie; Captain C. R. Rawlinson, La Crosse; Lieutenant J. O. Connel, Madison. Several others have not replied to telegrams from General Holway.

According to the general it is intended to recruit the regiment to full war strength of 1500 men to a company. The men will be sent to Camp Douglas as fast as they are enlisted and immediately put in uniform and given the necessary equipment. The necessary equipment is on the way from the federal arsenals at Rock Island, Ill., and St. Louis, Mo.

Milwaukee is expected to furnish at least four full companies. The first of these will be in line for special duty. The second will be for commissions in the new regiment. Colonel John G. Salsman of the Badger war department was in Madison yesterday having arrived from Camp Douglas to attend to various routine duties. He had been mustered out of the federal service so he might be free to attend to matters here. By convenient arrangement he can be mustered out and in as the necessities of the case may require.

Colonel Salsman does not expect to go to the border under the situation becomes more serious than at present. In fact, he rather is of the opinion that it will not be long until the war is over. He is, however, certain that it cannot be expected that the present army will be held at the border.

Speaking yesterday of the complaints that have been made of army rations, Colonel Salsman said that the chief cause of complaint was the failure of officers to make proper requisition of foodstuffs. The food requisition is plentiful and wholesome but the quartermaster and the cook are responsible for the service to the men. A too many cooks may spoil the broth. An incompetent selection of part of officials and cooks may fail to furnish good grub, even though the materials are ever so wholesome and plentiful.

Colonel Salsman said that Camp Douglas is pretty thoroughly deserted now compared with ten days ago.

JEFFRIS' PAPERS ARE FILED AT MADISON BY CAMPAIGN MANAGERS

Twenty-five Hundred Voters' Names Turned in to Secretary of State Asking Janesville Man to Run.

Although the total number of signatures to the nomination papers of M. G. Jeffris, republican candidate for the United States senate, was in excess of twenty-five hundred, it was deemed advisable to file on this total which is double the number required by law. The signatures were handed in to the secretary of state as required by law, and are now on file at his office in Madison.

Word from the Madison Jeffris headquarters is to the effect that the organization of Jeffris clubs throughout the state are continuing rapidly and much interest is being taken in his candidacy. In fact some of the men who circulated the Jeffris nomination papers stated their lists contained the names of former state legislature men, who had signed the papers of their own free will.

In Milwaukee it is estimated that the Jeffris club will have a membership of at least ten thousand, and throughout the state county organizations are being formulated, with the hope of having the headquarters for the clubs which radiate out into the voting precinct in the district. As far as possible Mr. Jeffris will speak at least once in every county in the state between now and primary day, and his itinerary is being made up carefully so that he will be given but little rest after next week until September.

PREPAREDNESS OPENS IN CARDINAL'S CAMP FOR WEEK-END GAMES

Manager Caldwell to Put Team in Field to Trim Fairies Both at Line City and in Janesville.

Janesville fans will know by tomorrow just how the Cardinals will have for Saturday and Sunday in the games with the Beloit Fairbanks. Manager Caldwell this afternoon had arranged to receive long distance calls from the string he has in view for the game.

Big Red Ormsby has assured the team backers that he will be on the job for Saturday. Reports say Red is going like a house after this season and just as good, if not a trifle better, than he was last year when the Cardinals played in the Cardinals. He is confident of his ability to take care of Red's buzz behind the platter and will be seen in a Cardinals suit.

Maquire is going to be here Sunday for the game at the driving park to help out Jack Wootton if such is necessary. Maquire knows a little more about the Fairies now than he did in his first game against them in the Fourth at the Line City. After that game he had a line on the Beloit batsmen which will prove in good stead if he can turn out on Sunday. At Beloit he held the horses men to such a tight line and lost only through a bevy of boners behind him.

A serious aspect is threatening semi-pro baseball in Janesville and unless a radical change comes about conditions may be such that the city will have no team. This is based on the tendency of the past games this season. The figures of past games this season show a losing proposition. The public manifests a better spirit toward the national pastime, it will be an impossibility to keep a team.

Sunday but three hundred and ten admissions were paid. The game was clean and fast from start to finish and it is regrettable that a larger crowd did not turn out. From the result of the attendance in the future it will be determined whether or not it will be to advantage to continue Sunday baseball in the city.

BELOIT COLLEGE TO AID PREPAREDNESS

Will Give Physical Training Credit to Students in Militia or Red Cross Work.

Action recently taken by the Beloit College faculty indicates a spirit of co-operation in the interest of national preparedness. A copy of a minute passed has been sent to the secretary of the war at Washington. It is as follows:

"Beloit College as a body, assures the government of its willingness to co-operate with it and to give it loyal support in case of war or other emergency. The college wishes to voice its sympathy with all that the government does to be patriotically ready."

In addition the faculty plans to take steps to give credit to students serving in National Guard companies or actively engaged in Red Cross work.

At the first meeting of the faculty the following resolutions were adopted to be presented for adoption, says the Beloit Alumnus:

"1. If congress provides the means, it is recommended that students be allowed to substitute military training for gymnasium exercises, if they so elect."

"2. It is recommended that students going to the summer military camps, for the training of officers, upon being properly certified, shall receive credit in semester's credit in gymnasium work."

"3. It is recommended that similar credit be given to young women who take work in first aid to the wounded or in any active form of Red Cross or hospital service."

"4. For the time being it is recommended that a standing committee on preparedness be appointed by the president, to supervise the whole matter."

DOINGS OF THE VAN LOONS—You Can Hardly Call Father's Substitute Very Practical.

Why Society Women Wash Their Own Hair

Few realize how many society women now wash their own hair, not because it is a fad, but because they wish to obtain the greatest possible hair beauty and be sure they are not using anything harmful. The thousands who have found that in washing the hair it is never wise to use a makeshift but is always advisable to use a preparation made for shampooing only, say they get the best results from a simple home-made cantharox mixture. You can enjoy this, the best that is known, for about three cents a shampoo by getting some cantharox from your druggist, and dissolving a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water. Your shampoo is now ready. After its use the hair dries rapidly with uniform color. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its lustre and softness will also delight you, while the stimulated scalp gains the health which insures hair growth.

Alkali Makes Soap Bad For Washing Hair

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulsified coconut oil for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats the most expensive soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

HOW TO BE SLIM

If you are too fat and want to reduce your weight 15 or 20 pounds, don't starve and weaken your system, or think you must always be laughed at on account of your fat, but go to Smith Drug Co. or any good druggist, and get a box of Oil of Kores capsules, take one after each meal and one before retiring at night.

Weigh yourself once a week and note what a pleasant and reliable method this is for removing superfluous fat from any part of the body.

It costs little, is absolutely harmless and a week's trial should convince anyone that it is unnecessary to be burdened with even a single pound of unsightly fat. Advertisement.

The Thirty-nine Steps

By JOHN BUCHAN

Next day he was much more cheerful and read the life of Stonewall Jackson most of the time. I went out to dinner with a mining engineer I had got to see on business and came back about half past 10, in time for our game of chess before turning in. I had a cigar in my mouth, I remember, as I pushed open the smoking room door. The lights were not lit,

There Was a Long Knife Through His Heart, Which Skewered Him to the Floor.

which struck me as odd. I wondered if Scudder had turned in. I snuffed the switch, but there was nobody there. Then I saw something in the far corner which made me drop my cigar and fall into a cold sweat.

My guest was lying sprawled on his back. There was a long knife through his heart, which skewered him to the floor.

I sat down in an armchair and felt very sick. That lasted for maybe five minutes and was succeeded by a fit of the horrors. The poor, staring, white face on the floor was more than I could bear, and I managed to get a tablecloth and cover it. Then I staggered to a cupboard, found the brandy and swallowed several mouthfuls.

I had seen men die violently before. Indeed, I had killed a few myself in the Matabele war. But this cold blooded indoor business was different. Still I managed to pull myself together.

I looked at my watch and saw that it was half past 10. An idea seized me, and I went over the flat with a small torch comb. There was nobody there nor any trace of anybody, but I shuttered and bolted all the windows and put the chain on the door.

By this time my wits were coming back to me and I could think again. It took me about an hour to figure the thing out, and I did not hurry, for, unless the murderer came back, I had till about 6 o'clock in the morning for my cogitations.

I was in the soup—that was pretty clear. Any shadow of a doubt I might have had about the truth of Scudder's tale was now gone. The proof of it was lying under the tablecloth. The man who knew that he knew what he knew had found him and had taken the best way to make certain of his silence.

Yes, but he had been in my rooms four days, and his enemies must have reckoned that he had confided in me. So I would be the next to go. It might be that very night or next day or the day after, but my number was up, all right.

Then suddenly I thought of another probability. Supposing I went out now and called in the police or went to bed and let Paddock find the body and call them in the morning. What kind of a story was I to tell about Scudder?

I had lied to Paddock about him, and the whole thing looked desperately fishy. If I made a clean breast of it and told the police anything he had told me they would simply laugh at me. The odds were a thousand to one that I would be charged with the murder, and the circumstantial evidence was strong enough to hang me.

Few people knew me in England. I had no real pal who could come forward and swear to my character. Perhaps that was what those secret enemies were playing for. They were clever enough for anything, and an English prison was as good a way of getting rid of me till after June 15 as a knife in my chest.

Resides, if I told the whole story and by any miracle was believed I would be playing their game. Karolides would stay at home, which was what they wanted. Somehow or other the sight of Scudder's dead face had made me a firm believer in his scheme.

If he was gone, but he had taken me into his confidence, and I was pretty well bound to carry on his work. You may think this ridiculous for a man in danger of his life, but that was the way I looked at it.

I am an ordinary sort of fellow, not braver than other people, but I hate to see a good man downed, and that long knife would not be the end of Scudder if I could play the game in his place.

It took me an hour or two to think this out, and by that time I had come to a decision. I must vanish somehow and keep vanished till the end of the second week of June.

Then I must somehow find a way to get in touch with the government people and tell them what Scudder had told me.

I wished to heaven he had told me more and that I had listened more carefully to the little he had told me. I knew nothing but the barest facts. There was a big risk that even if I weathered the other dangers I would not be believed in the end. I must take my chance of that and hope that something might happen which would confirm my tale in the eyes of the government.

My first job was to keep going for the next three weeks. It was now the 24th day of May, and that meant twenty days of hiding before I could venture to approach the powers that be. I reckoned that two sets of people would be looking for me—Scudder's enemies, to put me out of existence, and the police, who would want me for Scudder's murder.

It was going to be a giddy hunt, and it was queer how the prospect comforted me. I had been slack so long that almost any chance of activity was welcome. When I had to sit alone with that corpse and wait on fortune I was no better than a crushed worm, but if my neck's safety was to hang on my own wits I was prepared to be cheerful about it.

The next thought was whether Scudder had any papers about him to give me a better clue to the business. I drew back the tablecloth and searched his pockets. I had no longer any shrinking from the body. The face was wonderfully calm for a man who had been struck down in a moment.

There was nothing in the breast pocket and only a few loose coins and a cigar holder in the waistcoat. The trousers held a little penknife and some silver, and the side pocket of his jacket contained an old crocodile skin cigar case.

There was no sign of the little black book in which I had seen him making notes. That had no doubt been taken by his murderer.

But as I looked up from my task I saw that some drawers had been pulled out in the writing table. Scudder would never have left them in that state, for he was the strictest of moralists. Some one must have been searching for something—perhaps for the notebook.

I went round the flat and found that everything had been ransacked—the inside of books, drawers, cupboards, boxes, even the pockets of the clothes in my wardrobe and the sideboard in the dining room. There was no trace of the book.

Most likely the enemy had found it, but they had not found it on Scudder's body.

Then I got out an atlas and looked at a map of the British Isles. My notion was to get off to some wild district where my veldtraft would be of some use to me, for I would be like a trapped rat in a city. I considered that Scotland would be best, for my people were Scotch, and I could pass anywhere as an ordinary Scotsman. I had half an idea at first to be a German tourist, for my father had had German partners, and I had been brought up to speak the tongue pretty fluently, not to mention having put in three years prospecting for copper in German Namaland.

But I calculated that it would be less conspicuous to be a Scot and less in a line with what the police might know of my past. I fixed on Galloway as the best place to go to. It was the nearest wild part of Scotland, so far as I could figure it out, and from the look of the map was not overthick with population.

A search in Bradshaw informed me that a train left St. Pancras at 7:10, which would land me at Galloway station in the late afternoon. That was well enough, but a more important matter was how I was to make my way to the station, for I was pretty certain that Scudder's friends would be watching outside. This puzzled me for a bit. Then I had an inspiration, on which I went to bed and slept for two troubled hours.

CHAPTER III.
The Milkman Starts on His Travels.

I GOT up at 4 and opened my bedroom shutters. The faint light of a fine summer morning was flooding the skies, and the sparrows had begun to chatter. I had a great revulsion of feeling and felt a God-forgotten fool.

My inclination was to let things slide and trust to the British police taking a reasonable view of my case. But as I reviewed the situation I could find no arguments to bring against my decision of the previous night. So with a very mouth I resolved to go on with my plan. I was not feeling in any particular funk, only disinclined to go looking for trouble, if you understand me.

I hunted out a well used tweed suit, a pair of strong nailed boots and a dannel shirt with a collar. Into my pockets I stuffed a spare shirt, a cloth cap, some handkerchiefs and a toothbrush. I had drawn a good sum in gold from the bank two days before I came Scudder should want money, and I took £50 of it in sovereigns in a belt which I had brought back from Rhodesia. That was about all I wanted. Then I had a bath and cut my mustache, which was long and drooping, into a short, stubby fringe.

Now came the next step. Paddock used to arrive punctually at 7:30 and let himself in with a latchkey. But about twenty minutes to 7, as I knew from bitter experience, the milkman turned up with a great clatter of cans and deposited my share outside my door.

I had seen that milkman sometimes when I had gone out for an early ride. He was a young man about my own height, with a scrubby mustache, dressed in a white overall. On him I staked all my chances.

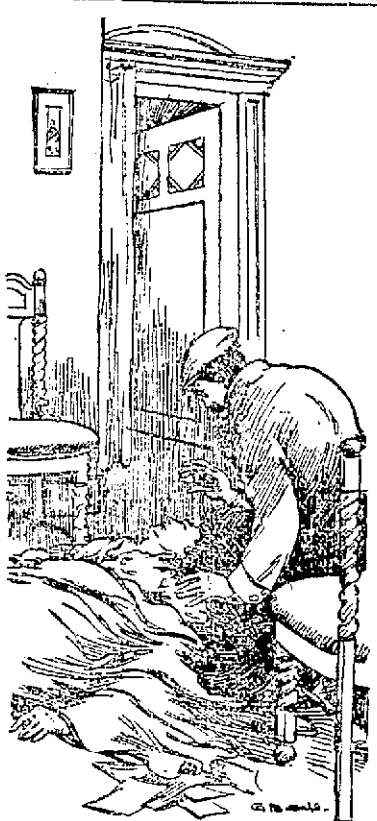

I went into the darkened smoking room, where the rays of morning light were beginning to creep through the shutters. There I breakfasted off a whisky and soda and some biscuits from the cupboard. By this time it was getting on to 8 o'clock.

I put a pipe in my pocket and filled my pouch from the tobacco jar on the table by the fireplace. As I poked into the tobacco my fingers touched something hard, and I drew out Scudder's little black notebook.

That seemed to me a good omen. I lifted the cloth from the body and was amazed at the peace and dignity of the dead face. "Goodbye, old chap," I said. "I am going to do my best for you. Wish me well wherever you are."

Then I hung about in the hall, waiting for the milkman. That was the worst part of the business, for I was fairly choking to get out of doors. Six thirty passed, then 8:40, but still he did not come.

The fool had chosen this day of all days to be late. At one minute after the quarter of 9 I heard the rattle of the cans outside.

"Goodbye, old chap!" I said. "I'll do my best for you."

I opened the front door, and there was my man singing out my can from a bunch he carried and whistling through his teeth. He jumped a bit at the sight of me.

"Come in here a moment," I said. "I want a word with you." And I led him into the dining room.

"I reckon you're a bit of a sportsman," I said, "and I want you to do me a service. Lend me your cap and overalls for ten minutes, and here's a sovereign for you."

Dinner Stories

Bulgaria's defection caused Spanish Consul Juan L. y Marti to say in Mobile: "The allies' diplomacy in the Balkans was slow. It reminds me of Smith."

"Smith's mother-in-law rushed to him in great excitement on his return from business one evening. 'Oh, John,' she cried, 'that great, horrid heavy grandfather's clock in the hall has just fallen with a dreadful crash on the very spot where I'd been standing only a moment before.'"

"Humph," muttered Smith, "I always did say that clock was slow."

Mrs. Thompson never missed a chance of letting her friends know she was years younger than her husband.

"Yes, George is fifty years old,"

she remarked to a visitor one day, "and there are ten years between us."

But the visitor was an elderly spinster with a sour disposition. "Is that so?" she exclaimed, in well assumed surprise. "Now, really, you look quite as young as he does."

"Gee! We had a lot of fun kidding a fellow at the fire the other night," said the veteran fireman for the benefit of the credulous listener. "He felt stuck in the middle of the fourth-story window, with flames shooting up all around him, and we yelled, 'Jump! We got a blanket.'"

The veteran fireman rocked with mirth. "What's the joke?" asked the puzzled auditor. "We didn't have no blanket at all," said the fireman, going off into another paroxysm of laughter.

Ancient American Art.
Thus far Bolivia is the only locality of the new world whence the large commercial quantities is exported. The deposits are large, and the use of tin as an alloy appears to be as old as the people. At any rate, before the coming of the Spanish conquistadores the natives of Peru and Bolivia, in the vicinity of Lake Titicaca, made use of tin as an alloy with copper to make bronze.

First Street Railway.
The first street railway in the United States was built in New York city in Fourth avenue, between Prince street and Harlem, in 1842, and horse cars were introduced into the principal American cities between then and 1881, when the use of electricity was begun.

"I AM AS WELL AS EVER" IS GROVE AVENUE MAN'S TRIBUTE SINCE TANLAC RELIEVED HIM

"I used to suffer from catarrh and rheumatism," stated Herman Benik, a laborer, 1639 Grove avenue, Racine, in explaining how Tanlac had relieved him of distressing ailments. "My head was stopped up and there was a continual clearing of my throat, and spitting all the time. I had pains in my limbs and could hardly keep at work some days. I read the testimonials in the newspapers. After taking half a dozen bottles of Tanlac I feel like a new man. I am as well as ever."

"Tanlac sure is a great medicine," Tanlac, so highly endorsed by Mr. Benik, has won the signed public endorsement of more than two hundred and fifty thousand men and women, grateful because Tanlac made them feel better and stronger. Tanlac is purely vegetable, a reconstructive tonic, appetizer, invigorant and revitalizer. Tanlac, the National Tonic, can be obtained here at Smith's Drug Store, 14 West Milwaukee St.

PATHFINDER STARTS TOUR OF THE STATE

Annual Auto Run of Milwaukee Automobileists Will Stop in Janesville Night of August 28.

On August 28th the Goodfellowship automobile run of Milwaukee motorists will start from Milwaukee and make their first night control at Janesville. The pathfinder car passed through Janesville Monday, and reported that all around the city there had been fairly heavy rains, but that this section had missed them.

Tourists Assured Welcome.
The first day's run totals 125 miles, and will include stops of various durations at Mukwonago, East Troy, Elkhorn, Delavan and Lake Geneva, which, if suitable arrangements can be made, will be used as noon control. Aside from the noonday luncheon, there is a possible chance of a trip on the lake and also a plunge. In the afternoon the tour will continue to Clinton, Beloit and Janesville, where, at the end of the day's run, the tourists will be allowed the privilege of a plunge in the Y. M. C. A. tank. All along the first day's run, Secretary Rudele was assured by the townsfolk that the tourists will be welcome. Janesville has plans on foot for entertainment of the visitors which promises to surpass that of last year.

Detour May Be Necessary.
It has not yet been decided which route the tourists will use out of Milwaukee to Mukwonago. Construction of a bridge at the falls which now necessitates being ferried across the river, probably will cause the first detour. Generally speaking, the first day's route is over excellent roads.

HOME-RUN BAKER LAID UP; BROKEN RIBS KEEP HIM IDLE

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
New York, July 18.—Franklin Baker, the hard-hitting third baseman of the New York Yankees, was laid out of the game indefinitely. It was announced tonight by the club, as the injuries he sustained during last Friday's second game in running against the grand stand while chasing a foul have been found to be more serious than at first thought. An X-ray photograph revealed that two ribs were broken.

Lute Boone, last year's regular second baseman, will replace Baker at third base until the latter is able to resume play.

SPORT SNAP SHOTS

MORRIS MILLER

The New York Yankees are planning to sing their way to the pennant. They don't claim to have the average grand open route crunched out but every day without fail they start out from the clubhouse to the field for batting practice every man of them joins in singing "When I Dream of Old Erin I'm Dreaming of You." I may seem like a superstition, but Paddy Bauman started the whole thing by singing the song when the team was in Cleveland on their last road trip and they have been winning ever since. Now every one joins in with Paddy from the bat boy to Bill Donohue himself. It's to be seen if the song will get them the pennant.

Speaking of such things as superstition, the Giants have a little black superstition that must be carried from field during the last inning by one of the team if the Giants are to win the game. They call it the "game bag" and have perfect confidence in its efficacy. Of course they don't expect it to come through every day.

Sawyer, the Senator's star comedian, is playing second for the team and is said to be playing it more tactically than it was ever played before.

It seems a pity that Charley Hertzog isn't relieved of the manager's duties and permitted to give his whole time to playing short. He's certainly the best shortstop the National League has seen for several years and he has more than a few good years ahead of him. This season he has fallen behind in his game owing to a bit of course to worry over the Reds' poor showing.

If Freddy Welsh at any time this season goes into the ring to defend his title over a long route he will be a different Freddy Welsh than the one we've been seeing in the long route decision fights. There is reason to believe that the champ has gone back a bit, but he is not using a crutch quite yet and if his title is at stake he is wise enough to use care in defending it. Even though he meets Charley White—and he is said to have expressed a preference for Charley—the bout will not be completely a joke.

The longest game of the season so far happened the other day at Rock Island. It then lasted fully won from Rock Island after twenty-one innings, with a score of 8 to 3. This exceeds the National League record for endurance by one inning, when the Giants beat the Pirates 8 to 1 in 1914. The record in the American League is twenty-four innings.

Of course it is possible that Jess Willard may never defend his title again. He is getting a little stout and is known to have lost something of his touch for the game. Also Jess has sailed away enough of the humor to keep him in comfort for many a rainy day. But if Willard does come back to fight again it would be out-

OLD RING TO FINISH SEASON WITH YANKS

Rube Oldring.

Rube Oldring, who was recently given an unconditional release by Connie Mack, has signed to play with the New York Yankees the rest of the season. At the close of the season, Oldring declares that he will retire from the game forever.

LONG RECEIVERSHIP CLOSES WITH SALE

St. Louis and San Francisco Railway To Be Sold Today at St. Louis—To Reorganize.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
St. Louis, Mo., July 19.—The sale of the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad which has been advertised to take place at the railroad's round house in St. Louis on July 19, will bring within sight the end of the three year receivership, during which the system has been divested of two important subsidiaries—the Chicago and Eastern Illinois, and the New Orleans, Texas and Mexico.

The sale at foreclosure was decreed in the United States Circuit by Judge Sanborn on March 31, 1915, and he fixed the minimum price at $45,700,000.

It is generally accepted in financial circles that there will be but one bidder for the property—the reorganization managers—who have submitted to the Missouri Public Service commission a comprehensive plan for the financing of the road. The plan is a reorganization of the system, providing for a voting trust to hold the stock of the road for five years. This plan was allowed to remain in the receivership plan, subject to a court decision as to its validity under Missouri law.

Under the reorganization plan, the new Frisco system is to have a capital of $321,688,000 including bonds.

It is expected that a new company will be organized soon after the sale of the road at foreclosure to the reorganization managers, and that early in August the new company formally will take over the road from the receivers.

The reorganization managers are J. and W. Seligman and Company and Speyer and Company.

Under the reorganization plan, the capitalization, exclusive of the bonds of the Kansas City, Fort Scott and Memphis road an integral part of the Frisco system, is in round numbers as follows:

Prior lien bonds $95,000,000

Adjustment mortgage $25,000,000

Adjustment mortgage sixes 40,000,000

Non-cumulative income bonds 35,000,000

Non-cumulative preferred stock 7,000,000

Common stock 48,000,000

Provision was made for the exchange of securities of the old company for those of the new.

WAR NOT INSANITY CAUSE, PROMINENT DOCTORS DISCOVER

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)
Paris, July 18.—The war has not driven mad so many persons as was anticipated in the early stages. Statistics thus far show that the first reports of men going crazy under the influence of modern artillery were exaggerated.

Dr. G. Dumas, who has treated all the cases of mental trouble in one of the French armies, says that his data, covering the first ten months of 1915, agrees with the reports of German doctors concerning madness among combatants.

He finds the cases of insanity caused directly or indirectly by the war in France are quite as few in proportion as those in Germany, and offers the figures as a refutation of the theory of German specialists that the Teutonic race is showing greater nervous resistance than the Latin.

Dr. Dumas' report covers 138 cases of derangement of which only 34 per cent were cases of general paralysis while in most asylums in time of peace the proportion is 15 per cent. This he takes as conclusive evidence that the fatigues and commotions of war have no influence upon the development of this form of insanity.

CITIZENS WILL BUILD TRAINING BARRACKS IN TEN AMERICAN CITIES

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
New York, July 18.—It was learned here today that a group of prominent New Yorkers plan to build permanent citizen training barracks in New York and nine other American cities this fall.

Former Supreme Court Justice Henry A. Gilderleeve is responsible for the idea. His plan is to erect buildings in the big cities of the east, middle west, far west, north and south of the United States where young men and boys can make their home winter and summer while they are being trained as non-commissioned officers for a volunteer army of American citizens.

The league has been incorporated in this state by Judge Gilderleeve, John R. Stanton, the copper man; Roger A. Pryor, Jr., son of Judge Pryor of New York; J. Norman Bulkley and several others.

PHILADELPHIA TO BE SHIPBUILDERS' MECCA

Millions of Dollars Worth of Contracts Let Places City Head of Marine Industry.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Philadelphia, July 19.—An investigation today disclosed that with present facilities and those being added under millions of dollars worth of new contracts just closed, this city is less than twelve months will be the greatest and biggest shipbuilding center in the world.

There are now under construction or contracted for, 75 ships with a total gross tonnage of 420,353. Millions of dollars are being poured into the shipbuilding industry along the Delaware River. Thousands of men are working long hours getting new shipyards together.

This tremendous boost is due primarily of course to the fact that the seas have been practically stripped of foreign shipping by the European war and there is an enormous demand for bottoms which will carry foreign and domestic sea trade.

All the big yards here are jammed with all the work they can do for the next three years. They are making orders every day on this account. Among the largest of these yards is The Cramp company, New York Shipbuilding company, Philadelphia Navy yard, Fawcett & Jones, Harlan and Henshaw, Chester Shipbuilding company and Quigley & Dorr.

The Pennsylvania Shipbuilding company is completing a big new $6,000,000 yard.

The Sun Shipbuilding company, organized by New York, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh men, is completing a new yard, costing several million.

A report today shows that Cramp is building 13 ships with a total gross tonnage of $1,300; the Chester company 10 ships with 45,600 tonnage; the New York company 24 ships with 126,305 tonnage; Harlan & Hollingsworth 14 ships with $5,000 tonnage; Passey & Jones 9 ships with 37,043 tonnage; and the Pennsylvania company 6 ships with 42,000 tonnage.

SWISS EXPORTS TO U. S. SHOW LARGE INCREASE

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Bern, July 18.—Swiss exportation to the United States shows large increase in several articles, particularly cheese, condensed milk, watches, silk and embroideries. Exportation from the consular districts of Bern, St. Gall and Zurich during May last amounted in value to 7,600,000 francs as against 5,300,000 francs in May, 1915.

HEAR CANNON ROAR OVER LONG DISTANCE

Sea Battle of Jutland Heard in Germany.—London Occasionally Distinguishes Sailors at Ypres.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Berlin, July 18.—Herr Wilhelm Krebs director of the Holstein weather and sun observatory at Schmelsdorf, writes to the Lokal-Anzeiger that the roar of guns in the battle of Jutland was plainly heard by his two adult daughters at Schmelsdorf, which is 240 miles from the scene of the fight. The young women claim to have heard plainly ten individual salvoes about 6 p. m. on May 31, at intervals of five to ten seconds.

Herr Krebs reports that the rumble of artillery fire at Jutland has been heard at Ziegenhain (in Hesse-Nassau), which is 211 miles from the battlefield. In both cases he explains, favoring winds facilitated the extraordinarily long transmission of the sound.

SOUNDS CROSS CHANNEL

London, July 18.—The sound of the big guns at Ypres has been heard on rare occasions in various parts of London. Occasionally at a point in Essex county, 150 miles away, and repeatedly at points in this country, 125 miles from the scene of firing, according to Mr. Christy, a widely known member of the Royal Meteorological society. The speaker said that windows in The Temple, a huge building of law offices almost in the heart of the city, were rattled violently many times by the Ypres guns.

Lloyd George, minister of munitions, and Sir A. Conan Doyle, the speaker and author, among those who had heard the sound.

A BLACK WOOLLY DOG IN EGYPT WILL GET A WAR MEDAL SOON

London, June 25.—There's a black, woolly dog somewhere out in Egypt today who's going to get a real war medal soon.

Bruno, pet of the Royal Scots Fusiliers regiment, saved more lives in five minutes probably than any other hero of the war.

An official communique from Cairo today tells how the Royal Scots beat off a surprise attack by 500 Turks at Deudiyeh, with heavy loss to the Sultan's soldiers.

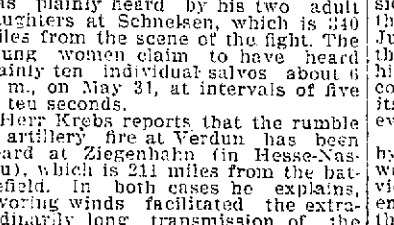

Taking advantage of the heavy fog the Turks were able to advance stealthily to within a few hundred yards of the British camp, barking furiously, dashed back and forth in front of the camp until every man was on the alert. The Turks advanced out of the mist and opened fire.

WISCONSIN ENGINEERS TO HOLD SESSION SOON

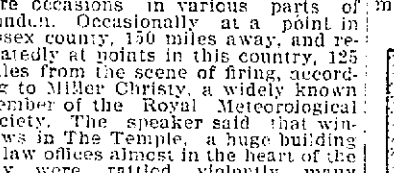

Madison, Wis., July 18.—The annual session of the Wisconsin Engineers' Association will be held at the Wisconsin State Hotel, Madison, Wis., July 27-29. The conference follows the idea inaugurated by the state highway commission and the state tax commission in holding conferences of its road builders and tax assessors every year.

The first session will be addressed by Governor Philip S. La Follette, secretary of the state and service commission, and J. D. McKelvey, engineer. On Friday night, July 28, there will be a banquet for the engineers at the Park Hotel. The conference is open to engineers in general employment, and notice has been received by the state civil service commission that many will attend.
